tively in them. Obviously not everything that is workable even for a its members, will be equally satisfactory in another social members. one Guild, or Guild or for

I should like to recommend to the Board of Directors and the Guild delegates and associates that they consider as their primary commitment for the next 12 months a four-fold program to promote the almost limitless possibilities for temporal and spiritual good the National Federation has through the Guilds, all the while continuing the efforts to strengthen a increase those activities already established.

First, re-examine your Guild's role in light of the Church's articulated principles on social and moral issues;

Second, increase your membership, secure non-Guild associates, and rewrite those by-laws out of date with recent changes in the National Federation's by-laws;

Third, organize the regions of the Federation and establish new Guilds; and

Fourth, build up the National Federation's endowment fund through contributions to the Federation and through life associate memberships, in order to protect the continuity of the national organization during decisive years ahead and to provide a way of meeting its annual requirements.

I should hope the foregoing is a challenge that individual Guilds and Federation associates would not only be willing to meet and become involved in, but in meeting it, bring into the mainstream of professional life a theology of moral and spiritual values worthy of our human existence and of our concern for the welfare and love of one's neighbor.

ADVICE TO AUTHORS

Articles on topics of potential interest to the Catholic physician as a Catholic and as a physician are earnestly solicited. A goodly portion of THE LINACRE QUARTERLY readers are not members of the medical profession but are engaged in allied health fields, teach moral theology, or serve in hospitals, and material for their benefit would also be welcome. The subject matter may be predominantly philosophical, religious, or medico-moral in nature. Material should be typewritten, double-spaced, with good margins and on one side of the paper only. Manuscripts (original and one copy) should be submitted to the Editorial Office of THE LINACRE QUARTERLY, 1438 South Grand Blvd., St. Louis, Missouri, 63104. One additional copy should be retained by the author. Full editorial privileges are reserved. References if used should appear at the end of the article and should conform to the usage of the Index Medicus. (This format is that employed in the Abstract Section of THE LINACRE QUARTERLY.) A brief but pertinent curriculum vitae of the author(s) should accompany the manuscript. The Thomas Linacre Award is made annually to the author(s) of the original article adjudged to be the best to appear in THE LINACRE QUARTERLY during each calendar year.
